“ *During trips passing through livingston i'd stop and visit Sam Hereford my grandfather and talk with aunt pearl, She would call us often and usually i'd answer the phone first and talk with her. i called her when my dad Michael Hereford passed in 2014. She was salt of the earth and from the earth she gave us produce from the garden, i still have peas in the freezer from many years ago and I often thought of her and will think of her still.
