“ I am very saddened by the loss of my brother, Alan, and will always remember all the good times we had growing up in Waterloo and in high school. Being so close in age we spent so much time together and we loved doing things with Dad outside. I have missed him over the years and he is now gone from me forever. Maybe, someday we will be together again in heaven with the rest of our family. My prayers have been with him and all of you since we learned he was so sick. Wish we could have been there with you at this time. Love,

“ Ann & family,

Hold onto your memories and let them guide you during this time of sadness. My brother, Charlie & I were in the same graduating class with Alan.

He had a smile for everyone and always willing to lend a helping hand.

Regards,

Carole

“ To Ann, Troy, Tracy and the family and loved ones of Alan LeVan,

Our hearts go out to you all during this time of sadness. Words may seem futile in the midst of your sorrow, for even though we have all lost loved ones ourselves, none of us can imagine what you feel at this point. Each relationship we have in this life establishes it's own uniqueness. Our experiences with loss are our own to be dealt with, and we all deal with loss in very different ways.

It is our prayer that you receive renewed mercy from GOD everyday in the days ahead, and that you may find some peace and a way to heal in the memories Al left here with you to share.

Find contentment in letting those memories grow more beautiful everyday and declare the good, forgetting the rest. Prove his immortality exists in your hearts and the hearts of all he blessed.

Heaven will bring Al more comfort and joy than he has ever felt before, and although his life in this world has moved on, the beauty of his love and the memories of all the years are left here to embrace you in the days ahead. Let that surround you for now, and just know that there are people everywhere lifting you up in prayer. Our knees know your grief well, as we will continue to be on them today and the many days that follow, asking for God's Grace that you are able to one day soon find the peace in your heart again that you know is God's intention for you all.

*Our Deepest Sympathy,
Roland, Karen, Raedon & Keane*
