“ *God bless you in this time of sorrow and loss of your loved one. He was a great husband, father and grand father not only to his own family but also to others. I know because he treated my son just like one of his own. He excepted Chris with a heart filled with love and kindness. My sympathy to the entire family especially my dear Andrew. In times of sorrow put your trust in the Lord He knows your pain and only He can give you peace.
GOD BLESS YOU ALL.*

“ Dear Sharon, Don, Paige and Callie Belle,

The photo in the paper tells everything there is to know about the kind, gracious and loving man who has gone home. Just look at the kindness in his eyes and the precious grin on his face. This is confirmed by the beautiful write up of a live well-lived and well-loved.

May you have wonderful memories of your dear father and grandfather and remember those things he taught you, by word and by example.

We will be praying with you, even though not present physically, at the memorial service today at 3 p.m.

Sending our love,

Sandy, Larry, Julie and Michael

“ I am sorry for your loss. The only thing that brought me comfort when I losted one of my loved ones was reading and meditating on Bible passages. Through the merit of Jesus’ ransom sacrifice, we have the hope of the resurrection. When Jesus was on earth, he resurrected his dear friend Lazarus. (John 11:11-44) The same way he did that in the past, he’ll also do the same for our dead loved ones in the near future.

I personally look forward to the time when death will be swallowed up forever and the time when we will not longer have tears of sorrow. Suffering, sickness, pain – all this will be a thing of the past. (Isaiah 33:24; Revelation 21:4) Instead of seeing our loved ones die, we will see them come back to life – yes, we will be reunited with them under paradisaic conditions here on earth. (Psalm 37:11, 29) I hope this has brought you some comfort during this difficult time. I will keep your family in my prayers.

*Sincerely,
Zury Bourque*
