“ Hi Joe and Jenna,
Sorry to hear about your loss. Our prayers are with you.

*This is Penny French and my son is Cole Bevans, you rode his horse in the team roping in Lethbridge, Alberta. That was one week after my father passed away and my father helped me raise my son Cole. So that was pretty special when you asked to use his horse, then two months later that horse died also. You never know what life will hand us. My heart goes out to you and Jenna, I got to know Jenna's mom really well when she came to some rodeo's. Hope to see you down the trail somewhere.

“ Joe, Jenna & Family:

For now and always, may your sorrow be softened by the presence of caring friends, nature's tranquility, and your own inner strength. May the healing power of memory visit you in quiet moments and nourish your soul. Though we know Heaven has welcomed a very special young man, many hearts still feel the sorrow of Brody's passing. The world has truly lost a special person, whose service to others will live on forever. He is not gone... he is just waiting patiently at the end of the trail.

“ Joe & Jenna: Brody is safe in the arms of Jesus, we can't know why somethings happen but we can know that love and beautiful memories outlast the pain of grief. And we can know that there's a place inside the heart where love lives always..and where nothing beautiful can ever be forgotton. If I've learned anything this past year, it's that nothing beautiful in this world is ever really lost- Those we cherish will always live on in memory. “ Real mourning is ugly and deep and wrenching, no matter how flowery and tasteful sympathy cards try to make it out to be. But trying to sidestep grief represents a proud and silly effort to avoid the unavoidable. When Jesus promised that those who mourn would be comforted, he laid down an inescapable prerequisite for receiving the deep, rich wonder of God's healing. To become a candidate for his comfort, you must first open yourself up to the pain of mourning. Paul told his believers not to grieve hopelessly, but he did not challenge them to forego grieving. Grief is different for a follower of Christ. Even in the depths of sorrow, hope breathes. Hope that you will see your loved one again in Heaven. Hope in God's capacity to infuse suffering with purpose. And hope that because of his healing power your sorrow will not go on forever. God Bless you all in your time of loss and sorrow, we can only pray that God may sustain you and wrap his loving arms around you all.

We can only imagine the pain you are feeling at this time. The more important something is, the more it hurts to lose it.
Letting go has never been easy, but holding on can be just as difficult. Yet strength is measured not by holding on, but by letting go. “ Joe and Jenna: We are blessed with God not letting us see the future. We are also sustained by past memories getting through the tomorrows. You stated, Joe, 'Do you think Clem is looking out for Brody?' I answered 'Oh, yes, and telling stories!' It dawned on me June is probably correcting him; Buster is smiling; Howard Harris is cracking a whip; Jim Shoulders is cussing timed event guys, and Reg Kesler is laughing. I bet there are some fine rocks we never found at Hobbs, Roswell, Dodge City, Vinita, Claremore, Coffeyville, Bushyhead (oh, yes!), Lazy E, Calgary and the NFR, and Brody has found another empty egg carton to store them in to show the two of you. “ My Grandmother Fountain had some wise thoughts and she would express them by saying... "God doesn't always want an old wilted flower....Sometimes he wants a beautiful rose"
I found another saying... I'm Not Here
Don't stand by my grave and weep,For I'm not there, I do not sleep,I am a thousand winds that blow,I am the diamonds glint on snow,
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,I am the gentle autummn rain,
When you awaken in morning's hush, I am the swift uplifting rush of quiet birds in circle flight. I am the soft stars that shine at night...Do not stand at my grave and cry...I am not there, I did not die

“ I knew Brody during the couple of months we spent together at Sante, and I grieve his loss. I will always remember his vivacity and love of life, that big smile and cocky look that lit up every room he entered. I do know, from intimate conversations we had during our time together, that he found God, and I have no doubt that he is looking down upon us now, and that he has found Peace that exceeds all understanding.

“ The 1st time I ever laid eyes on Brody was when he was about 3 months old at the Katy rodeo...Joe called me over and opened up his jacket and there was this precious baby boy sound asleep. As he grew older, our paths would cross occasionally on the rodeo trail. Not only would Brody speak to me, he would always gave me a hug. Brody was never afraid to express hisself. I remember once in Vegas when he was probably a freshman...ran into him and Jenna and he had his hair in "corn rows"...and I wondered what Grandpa Walter would think...probably just SMILE. “ Although there are no words that anyone can say or that can be expressed to take away the pain and the empty feeling that we have in our hearts, today we should celebrate the life of your son Brody. He is with our almighty maker, where he does not have to suffer the trial and tribulations of this world any longer. We will all meet him again in heaven one day when we are called home. God had a purpose for his life and it has been fulfilled. Remember that our life on earth is for a short time but our reward in heaven is eternal. Each of us have something to look forward to when we arrive!

“ When I heard of the passing of this young man and read what others were saying about him, how kind, sweet, loving, giving...etc. The "Dash" movie came to my mind. The dash that represents our beginning and the end no matter how short or long what matters is what we did with our dash. Sounds like he impacted a lot of people in his short life and was loved deeply by many. "For that dash represents all the time he spent on earth. And now only those who loved him know what that little line is worth."

“ I believe your son's life had great purpose, Brody has been looked up to by many youth. Thank you for blessing our lives, our children's lives with such a wonderful and amazing young man.
