“ I wish Darron knew that there was a place for him in this life with the people who loved him. Sometimes he didn't have the tools in life to cope with what he faced. Old ways die hard and he was stubborn but his heart was warm and kind inside. He was a man of his word, he was generous, thoughtful and genuine. He had a playful heart but a mind of deep thought. Life can make us tired and a little lost sometimes. My heart goes out to all that knew and loved Darron. I will miss his smile, our talks, our friendship.
