“ Daryl was a rare person to find in today's world. He was a sweet, kind, honest and genuine man. It had been several years since I had seen Daryl but, you never forget how someone like that makes you feel when you were around them. I still remember it well. Thank you, Daryl.

“ I suspect there are many stories like this. I formally met Daryl in Conroe, Texas shortly after I began playing the mini-tours in 1993. Up to that point I knew of him from junior and amateur golf, which is to say that I knew his name. One afternoon while practicing after a tournament round he approached me on the practice putting green to point out that my eyes were positioned on the other side of the golf ball at address. I made the adjustment and it helped. The point is that not knowing each other that well did not inhibit Daryl from reaching out to help me. While I was grateful for the help what I took away from the experience most was the extraordinary character that he must have possessed to break through the invisible "barrier" of unfamiliarity in order to help a fellow competitor. That is rare and so telling of his soul. Over the next couple of years I observed his excellent short game first-hand when we were paired together in tournament rounds and became more aware of his gift as an instructor. Most of all I just enjoyed playing golf with him. On the course he was the ultimate professional and a perfect gentleman.

Last month I saw him again at the Texas Team Challenge in Horseshoe Bay after probably 20 years since last seeing him. Walking toward me he greeted me with that warm, familiar smile and an outstretched hand. I'm sure he made many people feel like an old friend that he was glad to see. I'm so glad that I had the privilege of knowing him. I'm quite sure that when The Lord calls me home Daryl will welcome me with that same smile and outstretched hand.

“ *Daryl greeted you with a smile and kind words. He made you feel better about yourself, a trait so few have possessed. I was Freddie before I was coach but I always enjoyed watching him with a golf club in his hands. His tricks were made to look easy and produced perfect contact. You would get a club to try to copy but soon discover it's Daryl that makes it look easy. My sincere regrets and condolences to Tara and the family for your loss. “ When I think of Daryl, I remember the times on the golf course as kids. I remember his long flowing smooth swing and his touch around the greens. He was an excellent golfer, but he was even a better man. My heartfelt thoughts and prayers go out to all of you. He will be missed.

Sincerely,
John Waters
