“ Dear Debbie,

I do think of you often, still. It's been hard even today, we all take our lives for granted constantly. I am so sorry I did not have one more conversation with you. I pray I see you next in heaven we can share then, but I think you know I loved you. I do have our last conversation as a gift thank you for the very nice things you said last to me, I miss you, tell mom I'll be home soon. You were special.

“ Sweet Debbie, you are missed. I was and am still heartbroken you are gone, I'd give anything to have 5 minutes more to visit with you my sister. I know how much you are missed by many.

*Love,
Stacie*

“ Beautiful, sweet, strong Debbie. The dear sister I got when you married my brother Steve. You were so incredibly supportive as we dealt with the many trials in this life-thank you Debbie. You lent us your strength and determination when things got hard. you gave of yourself.. bless you Debbie. Your life was full of accomplishments. You could make things happen, so dedicated, so determined...-what an example to us all ! It is hard to say goodbye, you'd probably like to know that every time I picture your smile, I can hear your enormous full laugh and that warms my heart. In Christ, I'll see you when I get there my beloved sister Debbie, until then, I'll love you always.
