“ Grady will be sorely missed. We had the pleasure of getting to know him through the church. My husband, father in law and I picked him up for church nearly every Sunday for about the past year. He became family. He joined us for dinners and celebrated his birthday with us last year at our house. He was always grateful for everything we did and thanked us for letting him be “adopted” into our family. We enjoyed his company and his stories. He had a great sense of humor and we feel privileged to have gotten to know him.

“ I studied under Grady at the University of Houston 40 years ago. In a time before personal computers, I was honored to, in my spare time and for much needed pay, type research papers, RFIs; and proposals for him. I learned more about computing, business and office operations from what I was typing than from any other college course I took while completing my degree. Over the years, as my career progressed, Grady and Penny would check in on me, always caring on a personal level. I always thought of them as family. I used to wonder how awesome it would be to be an actual family member of theirs, how lucky I would have been. I'm sure I was not their only add-on child because they had so much extra love to share. When I learned Penny had passed away, I knew how very lonely Grady would be. To see him persevere and continue his writings was a true inspiration. And, when I learned Grady has now gone, my sense of loss has now given way to the joy of knowing Grady and Penny are together again, while, happy and still checking in on all of us! An inspirational couple professionally and personally. Blessed with love and concern, it is not easy to say goodbye, so I will close with your usual closing YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE...MAKE IT HAPPEN!

*We have lost a good friend and neighbor. He and Penny shared many happy hours with us when we lived at Elkins Lake. Both of them were mentors to our boys. Thank you!
