“ As most have already said, there is nothing that we can say that will make anything okay right now; please just know that we are praying for your entire family at this time. I wish that we could help carry some of the grief for you at this time, as the weight must seem unbearable. It is impossible for anyone that has not experienced this kind of grief to understand the depth, all that we can do is offer our support and prayers. We may not be able to carry all of your suffering at this moment, but we carry the hope that God will pick you up and carry you through this. Our Deepest Sympathy, The Peters Family

Buddy Peters and Family - March 21, 2006 at 02:20 PM

“ Julie, Allan, Marla, David and boys, Scott and I are praying and thinking about you daily. Words can not express the feelings of sympathy I feel towards you all. God will comfort you and give you peace in this time of suffering. Jenna was a gift that God gave to you to enjoy and her memories will always bring smiles to your faces. You know she is laughing and smiling with God and looking out for all of you now.

We love you, Scott and Connie Keltner

“ We are so sorry for the loss of Jenna. She was a inspiration to all who knew her. I will miss her warm smile everyday, and her loving hugs she would always give me. She is with the angels now. Jenna will never hurt, cry, or be sick again. I pray for you and your family. May your hearts start to heal and always remember Jenna as a flower which blooms in the springtime. Let Trey know we are praying for him, and will see him soon. Mrs. Lisa/Pre-K at Teddy Bear U. My prayers are with Alan too.

“ There is no greater loss than that of a child. I can not express into words how sorry I am. May God heal Allan and your hearts. When you feel as though there is nothing you can do, please remember the words, "Hold on." Believe in yourself and God and just hold on.
