She also loved being and looking outside.

Jessie had a big loving and caring heart and will be missed by many. “ When Jessie and I talked about her leaving this earth and going home to heaven she got the biggest, sweetest smile on her face. She was ready to go, ready to rest in the arms of our Lord and Savior. I’m sad my sweet friend is gone from here, but I’m glad she is free of illness and pain and especially thankful knowing we will see each other again someday. I’m thankful God put Jessie in my life. We had a fun time together, lots of laughs and a lot of good conversation.

Jessie was much like my Dad in ways, she had a big heart and loved deeply. My Dad never just said , “I love you,” he said, “I love you, I love you a whole bunch.”

Before Jessie and I hung up from our phone calls she always said, “I love you, I miss you, I love you, my friend.”

I love you, I miss you, I love you, my friend...until we meet again.
