“ I met Mrs. Bean when I began college at Sam Houston State. I worked in the office of food services with Mavis (cannot remember her last name) and Mr. Schmidt was the director of food services. Mrs. Mavis and I would bring the funds from food services to deposit in the bank where Mrs. Bean worked as a teller. First National Bank was located is the present day police department and that is the place where I first met her. Mrs. Bean was petite, kind, reserved and very skilled in her job. The photo looks the same as my first time meeting her over 43 year ago. I pray that God continue to bless her family members with all the wonderful memories of her.
