“ My first memory of Katy was shortly after I'd met her in 2001. She was walking into the office building where we both worked and she was wearing a FABULOUS red full-length winter coat... simple and elegant. She looked amazing! Every time I've shopped for a coat since then, I've held that memory up as a comparison. Have never found anything quite that striking. Like that coat, Katy was rare, and I feel privileged to have known her! She will be missed...

“ Katy was one of a kind....smart, kind hearted, always a joy to be around. One thing that always sticks in my mind about Katy, is how she remembers peoples names and faces. I used to see her once a year, and she would always remember me. That amazed me, and it made me feel good. I know Katy loved the Lord and is now healed and rejoicing in Heaven. You will be missed Katy.

“ Katy and I met through our work. Katy was one of the few from Texas who had no fear coming to Minnesota winters. I always looked forward to her walking thru the office door sans a coat. Katy was always full of laughter, a kind friend and a good mentor. To the family and close friends of Katy, may you find solace in your memories of Katy. She was one of the best!

“ Katy, It has been a privilege to get to know you, although it was within the last few years during your trials. I was encouraged by your faith and strength, I will miss you so much, but rejoice in the fact you have been reunited with the love of your life, and you have no more pain and suffering. My deepest sympathies to your loved ones.

“ Katy,
Your strength through the trials over the last few years has been an inspiration to me. Your email updates resonate your strength and your devotion. I know that you are now with Richard and finally at peace.

“ My dear Charles,

I take comfort knowing Katy has, at last, rejoined her beloved Richard and her suffering has ended. I feel in my heart Dub, Kathy, and Dirk are greeting her with open arms and she is smiling down on us all. May the peace which comes from your joyful memories of Katy, the twirler, caregiver, and delightful sister to so many of us, comfort you in your days ahead.

*My deepest sympathies,
Marie*
