“ O'Dad, you were not only my father, but my best friend. I miss our daily conversations and all the wisdom you imparted. I still wait for the phone to ring at 9:30am and then 3pm and then 7:30pm, just to say hi or check on the kids or give a tidbit you forgot earlier. The person you were was so impressive, intelligent, kind, intellectual, engaging, thoughtful, loving, peaceful, honourable, noble and non-judgemental. The legacy you left will be passed on for generations. You are not forgotten and in my heart every moment of everyday. The best Dad a girl could ever ask for. I'll miss our sailing, our trips, concerts, dinners, reminiscing and at the very end sitting on the patio everyday just having fun doing puzzles. I told you but, you never really will know how much I love you. Thank you for raising me, guiding me and loving me. I'm a very lucky girl to have had you! God Bless you O'Daddy, until we see each other again.

“ Farewell to my good friend Larry. I will miss you so very much, and I'm lucky to have called you my friend. I've asked my mom to look out for you up there and show you the ropes, maybe have some brunch together :) Thank you to Larry's family for sharing him with his many, many friends and caring for him so lovingly.
