“ I met Leslie when we lived in Norcross GA.in 1977. She was my best friend back then. When I moved away we stayed in touch for years, but after graduating high school life got busy and we lost touch. I have thought about her often and have searched for her many times. When I searched for her tonight I was so surprised and saddened to see that she had passed. Mary and Dewey my heart goes out to you. I have three girls my self and cannot imagine the pain that you all must have endured over the past two years. Reading some of the post that others have posted tells me that she was still the beautiful confident person that I remember. You all are in my thoughts and prayers and I will always cherish my memories of her.

“ I am in shock. I just GOOGLED her name, and this is what I find. I wanted to see what she might be doing... I was thinking about her. I cannot believe it. She's really gone, and I didn't get to say "goodbye" to her. She was so special to me. She was ALWAYS smiling. Her laugh was unmistakable. Mary, all I can say is that I am sorry. And, it was her birthday.

Leslie... I have said a prayer, and I will say many more. I will truly miss you.

“ I am so sorry to hear about your loss of your dear loved one. The time spent with them always seems so short. Please find comfort in the promise from God that he will resurrect our loved ones, John 5:28. The bible also says that "Jehovah is near to those that are broken at heart; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves." Psalms 34:18. My prayers are with you and your family, Sandy “ Leslie was in my first class on the first day of high school. It was English and I was a total wreck. I was sweating, fidgety and sick to my stomach with butterflies; filled with the obligatory insecurity of a freshman boy on his first day of HIGH SCHOOL. Leslie was sitting in the room when I arrived and she was as cool and as confident as could be. She sat in her desk like she knew the routine. Like "this" was no big deal. I admired the confidence of this girl and thought I must have screwed up and gone to the wrong class. This was obviously the class of upper classmen, because there is now way a freshman could be so with it!

But it was with that self assuredness that Leslie introduced herself to me and let me know I was in the right place. Who knows, she might have done it because she was just as nervous as the rest of us or because she could sense I was a mess, but whatever the reason, it was she turned out to be my first day saving grace. What Leslie did not know was she really ended up putting me at ease and helped introduce me to a high school that wasn't upper classmen giving wedgies and hazing the freshmen, as reported, but a place where people are sweet and nice and look out for one another.

Though I have not really seen her for nearly 20 years, I will always have a soft spot in my heart for Leslie for her kindness and great spirit. My sincere condolences to all of her friends and family, her kindness and spirit will be missed.

always smiling and being so happy! I remember they day she

“ Dewey,

In reading the obits this morning I saw the name "Suhr". This name being unique, I pulled up this site and was saddened to see that Leslie was your daughter. I can not come close to knowing the hurt that one must feel when losing a son or daughter, but be comforted in knowing that Leslie is under God's care now. I want to extend my deepest condolences to you, Mary, and your entire family. My thoughts and prayers are with you all.

“ I met Leslie May 2008, in Conroe, TX. She soon became my bestfriend. She was the best friend I have ever had. I loved her like she was my sister. I talked to her almost everyday. When I didn't hear from her I got worried. I never would have guessed what had happend. She was full of life and could make anyone family. She loved my son Little Ricky and treated him like he was hers when we were there. I had a chance to come see her not long ago but we were having some money problems I wish I could have seen into the future. I would have come. I'm so sorry I didn't. She was a wonderful person and I am very sorry for your loss. I loved Leslie very much and wish she were still here.
