“ I adored my Aunt MaChere. MaChere was the youngest sister of my mother, Marcella Korner. During my childhood and early teens many Thanksgiving dinners were spent in the lovely home on the hill of my Aunt MaChere. As young children our family of four drove with Aunt MaChere and Uncle Alec from Houston to Portland, Oregon in the summer with no car air conditioning. A trip of a lifetime. Aunt MaChere was a great influence in my formative years as a true believer and lover of Jesus Christ. After my mother's death in 2006 Aunt MaChere and I would chat often on the phone over the years until she was no longer able to construct sentences. I will miss her. My sincerest condolences to her family and friends.
