“ I worked with Marc at ExxonMobil’s HOP plant about 20 years ago. He was always enthusiastic about helping and managed his work with the highest standards. However, his best qualities were his humanity, generosity and warm spirit. 20 years later I still remember him as a great teacher to me in my first job as an engineer. Knowing he is no longer with us feels like a huge loss. I wish I had the chance to tell him this directly, but in his absence I want to let his family know that Marc was a great man that touched my life in ways he is probably not aware of and have made me a better person. God bless Marc and you all. My most sincere condolences...
