“ It is hard to say goodbye to Kay as she has been such a good friend for such a long time. We've shared many memorable moments....the types of moments that friends and neighbors who enjoy each other share. As part of our wonderful neighborhood group, we've had dinner together, we've been to parties, we've shopped, we've talked about our families, we've done the "girl friend things", we've hung around the golf course, we've giggled and laughed together and we've cried together. The crying lasted only a brief moment as she would not allow it. What a wonderful person; good and loving wife, great mom, special grandmother and good friend. She will be missed, but she will be remembered. I will always remember Kay laughing and I think she would like that.

“ Oh, Larry, what a bitter sweet time for you! It is so bitterly sad that there was nothing more that could have been done for precious Kay, but sweet to realize that now her suffering is over. Everyone knows you did the best you could. We admire you so much for living and helping Kay live with a smile on your face when your heart must have been so heavy. God bless you!
