“ Oh, the 39th Street memories we have shared for 46 years from Monique's high school love life to Bryce and our daughter being born within two days in the same hospital and mothers sharing the same room! Max and Jean were a two-some and Max has been lost without her. I can see them now on Max's motorcycle, Jean's long red hair flying as Max tries to thrill Jean by driving real fast all around heaven! You all have been like family. Monique and Bryce remember the good memories! Love, Ron and Mary

“ To the family of Max: Max and I were friends back in the 1950s when we were young. After he graduated HHS, we lost touch with each other until 1995. Shortly after my husband died, Max came for a visit to share his condolences with me. That meant a lot to me. Oh, by the way, he shared with me his love of his motorcycle. I am sorry for the loss of your family member. May Max RIP. Sara Hardy Barte
