“ Uncle Robert, in almost every way who i am today should be credited to you. talking with you and learning from you has led me to so many personal values that have made me a better person. i miss you so much, you have always been there for us whenever we needed help that in so many ways you were very much like the father figure we lacked for so many years, you always protected us and made sure all of my moms boyfriends and husbands were to your standards, if they werent you would threaten them on a regular basis to keep them in line. you may not have been the most educated man, but you were always very wise and knowledgeable and was always one of the first people we went to for advice. everyone in my family admired and respected you so much, you have always been our hero for how loving you were and as Kevin said you are an example of what a man should be. all my life, no matter how much pain you were in, you always had a smile on your face and everyone you loved knew you loved them because you showed it in your words and actions. i sit here crying as i write this hoping that you knew how much you meant to us in life and still do and always will after death. as long as people carry on the values you had, you will always be there in our hearts and our minds, i only hope i can learn to love like you did but i still have a long way to go. love you Uncle Robert, i miss you so much

“ Our deepest heartfelt condolences to Robert Black's entire family. We remember Robert who always had a smile on his face no matter what and for whomever. His laughter is still heard, his kindness still felt. We still have visions of him driving his truck through Solano County California with two American flags flying, and I still turn my head at this display, I smile and remember "Robert". God rest your soul and may you rest in Peace Robert. Thank you for the fond memories.
