“Wow. I'm sorry I missed celebrating Bob's life with everyone back in September of 2019.

I've thought about Bob many times over the years since I worked with him at CH2M in 2016 and 2017. After leaving CH2M in 2018, I lost touch with Bob, but our mutual friend, Max Hengst, would keep me updated from time to time, so it was good to know Bob was still in the fight.

Today, I was searching for a contact on my phone and Bob's name and number popped-up first. I immediately got a smile on my face as I thought about the many, many great conversations we had shared and all the good advice he had to offer me. Us old Pipeliners have lots we can talk about...

Then it hit me. It's been years now and I knew Bob was valiantly fighting his battle with cancer...

But... it has been years.

[sigh]. Damn, I'm sorry Bob's gone because his voice has been silenced and there will no longer be any opportunities to pop-in to say "hello".

But, I bet Bob is truly at peace now and enjoying his reward for a life well spent. I can't but laugh thinking that Bob is watching me write this and saying, "well, Tim, this ain't the first document you got to me a tad bit late..."

Love you, Bob. You were a great inspiration and friend to this old Pipeliner. And I truly thank you for that.

Regards,

Tim Miller

“ I first met Bob in 1979 as a recent engineering school graduate starting work for Marathon Pipe Line Company in Houston. We used to call him “By God” Bob Sease in those days since virtually every direction from him started with the phrase “By God”. He was a tough operations manager with a passion for excellence and certainly made an impression on the young engineering staff. Bob and I stayed in touch loosely through the years as our career paths took us in different directions. I had the pleasure of reconnecting with Bob a couple of years ago back in Houston and learned of his lengthy battle with cancer. I was impressed, but not surprised, by the toughness which he demonstrated in fighting his illness. I’m saddened to learn that he has lost his battle with cancer and send condolences to his family and all that mourn the loss of this tough guy. Bob, may your soul now rest in peace “by God”.

“ I worked with Bob in Houston. I remember his wit and his great work ethic. He was tough but always fair and I totally enjoyed working with him...he was a great guy. Rest in peace Bob.

“ I too worked with Bob in the early 1990's. He was a tough and visionary leader, who expected nothing but the highest performance from his team. Early morning daily staff meetings were very stressful, but as a result you never came unprepared. I am a better engineer and manager today, because of Bob's influence on me 28 years ago.

Condolences to Bob's family, with prayers and well wishes as you go forward.

“ I had the pleasure of working for Bob in Martinsville, IL in MPL from 1990-1992. It was my first supervisor position with the company. I learned a lot from Bob. I catch myself today saying things that Bob said like, "Findlay is a town in Ohio, who told you that?" Most assuredly, all of my staples are at 45 degree angle! I still have a handwritten thank you note from Bob for a work related event. Because of that note, I send out hand written notes today.

Our thoughts and prayers are with you.
