“ Our sympathy to the children of Sabra Red. Though we have not seen Sabra in years, we have many good memories of her. Lewis just wrote when he sent me her obit.; "Sabra and I got along good. I wish I could have seen and talked to her again." We will be keeping all of you in our thoughts and prayers.

“ My grandmother insisted when I was born that I be named after her, over the years because of my own personal family problems on my other side of my family I did not get to spend as much time with her as I would have liked to, but she made sure every visit, every hug, every moment she could, she made sure I knew I was apart of her and that she loved me. I decided to begin going by Sabra when I was younger simply because I could feel a strong connection between who she was and myself, I am so grateful now more than ever that I have her name, the name she felt fit her and me when I was born. I love and miss her to the point I'm not sure that to do with myself, but my mother Jo Edgmon, brother and sister, Chantz and Morgan Terrell, will be attending the service and wish everyone peace in their hearts during this difficult time for family and friends. Sabra was a strong and amazing woman who did everything in her life wholeheartedly, whose laughter was infectious to others, and making others feel loved and happy was a top priority to my grandmother. I love you mother, you're in all our hearts.
