“ I was a hospice volunteer. The office told me Bill missed his dog Sway, so I started visiting him with my dog around October 2014. Me and Nixon (and later Bailey) would visit him every couple weeks. I'd always bring him a burger, BBQ, Pizza, or something, and the dogs would beg him to share. He would often oblige, but not always. I think of him often and was blessed to know him. All the folks at St. Joe's Manor really loved him and enjoyed his company. They would light up when I told them who I was there to see.

“ I am so sorry we missed the services for Bill (Mr. Schmidt). I just found the obituary from searching the Internet for old friends and neighbors. I remember as a child, Bill would drive by after work and either honk or wave at us. We spent a lot of time at their house and at the local beer joints. Us kids would play outside while the parents enjoyed themselves either at Martins or Wilsons. I guess us Germans liked to stay together. I want to thank Mr. Schmidt for his military service in WWII. God bless the entire family, especially Billy, Kathy, and Steve.

Respectfully,
Charles Youngblood
